

Dear Mr. Lilienheim,

Thank you very much for taking time to speak to the class about your experiences during the Holocaust. I was most moved by your speech about friendship, I agree that it is very important, and I hope to share one with you.

You are an excellent author. I am going to read your book. That story of the rings is the most amazing one I have ever heard.

I have some questions for you. Did you speak to Steven Spielberg about your experiences? Did you ever see a friend die? I certainly hope not. If you could please write back, I would be very happy.

When I shook your hand, it was exciting. I was near someone who actually lived through something I heard so much about. I would like to thank you again for coming. I am glad you lived through the experience.

Fondly,
Ivy Lynn
