

Dear Irene,

I wanted to express my thanks for being included in your triumph of last evening. It was a stirring experience that I would not have missed for anything.

As I leave for Atlanta in the morning I knew I would not have a chance to talk to you again. In the excitement of the event I failed to extend my wishes for happiness in your marriage. May you both have a lifetime of love and good fortune.

Like it or not however, you'll always be a member of our family. I was so proud

As ever,
Phyllis
