

June 23, 2004

Dear Randy Sorkin,

Recently, I saw Abbey Neidik's film about you, your family, and other people with problems like yours. I asked Abbey to pass this note onto you because I wanted to let you know that I really admire your strength and courage. Throughout the movie, you show a lot of determination, and a great sense of humor while dealing with a challenging situation. I believe that the film will educate and inspire people, and counteract negative myths.

I can easily imagine that other viewers may see you as a role model because you are someone who keeps moving, no matter what.

Sincerely,

Viviane Elnécavé